

FOOD SERVICES WORKER (FSWR)

The food service worker is an essential member of the long-term care interdisciplinary team, delivering quality nutrition care and service in a health-care environment. Those currently employed in hospitals, institutions, special-care homes and integrated-care facilities will benefit from this program. Areas to be covered include customer service, safe food-handling techniques, safety, nutrition and communication. The Ministry of Health requires this program for all staff employed in the position of food service worker in long-term care dietary environments.

Course delivery

Please visit Cambrian College's eStore (<https://cambrian.estore.flywire.com/products/?storeCatalog=10752>) to see which courses from this program are available for registration at this time.

Courses are delivered asynchronously online. This means you do not have to log in at a specific day or time to complete your coursework. However, you are responsible for meeting all course due dates as posted within the course. Most courses will have weekly modules or assignments to complete. We recommend that students budget a minimum of 5 hours per week per 3-credit course they are taking online to be successful.

Important Note: Cambrian College reserves the right to cancel the offering of courses in certain terms.
